As FOR BABIES IN LONG DRESSES.

They always are in white; but do not worry too much over its picture, for if you swoop down upon the gentle morsel five or six times in a minute you spoil the baby's temper and the artist's. Let him alone. He has taken more baby pictures than you ever saw. But I can assure you nothing pleases him like making a successful picture of a baby; so leave him alone to his own deaf task and I'll warrant you he will please you.

Brooklyn Detectives Claim to Have Unearthed a Conspiracy. BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 12.-There were so sensational developments in the charge of arson made by Fire Marshal Lewis against John G. Steinbrenner, who is alleged to have set fire to a frame dwelling house on March 29. The case came up this morning before Judge Goetting.

Beveral detectives claim to have unearthed a conspiracy to burn down buildings, in which an alleged anarchist was the leading spirit. Herman Albrecht was arrested yesterday for complicity in the conspiracy and he is supposed to be the man with anarchistic tendencies.

Steinbrenner has made a confession, in which he accuses Albrecht of intimidating him into committing the crime, for which he was to receive $50. Albrecht claims that a third party fired the structure, using a volatile combustible held in a kind of bladder with a fuse attached. Around the fuse was gunpowder in a piece of muslin. The Remains of the Late Superintendent of Police in Pittsburg Dug Up. PITTEBURG, PA., April 12.-For some days a Company of the District of Columbia, held report has been current that Gamble Weir, late | yesterday afternoon, the following directors slowly poisoned to death. It has now been developed that the body was dug up from its grave in Greenwood cemetery a few days ago and the stomach submitted to a chemical analysis. Those who caused the body to be exhumed were the dead superintendent of police's brother, County Commissioner J. G. Weir, Dr. J. W. Dickson of Allegheny and Mercantile Appraiser Harry Pfell, after which the stomach was submitted to Prof. Hugo Blanck for examination. After an analysis Prof. Blanck found enough arsenic in the stomach to kill several men, it is reported.

It is claimed that the poisonous drug that did its deadly work on Mr. Weir's system had been administered to him by slow degrees for superintendent of police of Pittsburg, was were elected:

salaries, and the word has been passed down from the Capitol that Mr. Holman's committee is cutting the appropriations to the bone. The changes which are being made and that are to be made are not confined to the clerks employed in Washington, but extend to the customs, immigration and other branches of the service throughout the country.

One result of this condition is that the Secretary is absolutely besieged by members of the House and Senate demanding that their proteges and appointees be retained. The employes are mustering their "influence" in full strength and there is a constant procession of Congressmen through Secretary Foster's office. The Secretary explains that he is not responsible for the condition and is utterly unable to alter it; that if Congress does not provide the salaries he cannot keep the clerks. Each Congressman admits this, but insists that his particular case must be made an exception.

The news of the death of Juror Cooper reached the House press gallery early today, and, as the statement was made that his family was left in needy circumstances, a collection was taken up for their benefit. The sum of $8 was raised as the nucleus of a fund to be given months and bureau officials do not offer them any false reassurances. The panacea for their troubles lies entirely with Mr. Holman's comto Mrs. Cooper. The newspaper men thought Cooper had done his duty well and that his death was due to his service on the jury.

VICE PRESIDENT OPELL Vice President Odell of the local directory said that the directory in formulating this bill had proceeded on the theory that the government in inaugurating the exposition designated two bodies to carry out its will, namely, the Columbian commission.

To both those agents were given special powers and work. On the exposition company was placed the duty of finding an adequate site and $10,000,000 with which to produce the lair. To the commission was delegated the power and authority to designate the scope and plan of the fair. and plan of the fair.

It was evident that the larger responsibility rested with the commission. It was for it to determine what limitations should be put on the undertaking. The commission had decided that the scope of the exhibition should be such as to require the expenditure of more than $10,000,000. It had determined that the fair should be predented as the fair should be should be such as the fair should be should be should be should be such as the fair should be should be the fair should be produced on such a scale as to require $17,500,000 or $18,000,030. Hence James W. Cooper, or, as he was more familiarily known to his host of friends, Cooper, was born in Goochland county. Virginia, in 1847, and came to Washington in 1865. He was a member of the Independent Order of Moses and the Good Samaritans.

The funeral will take place from the Zion Baptist Church next Sunday at 2 o'clock.

ONE OF THE REQUISE PANY.

Mr. Fred. Winston, a member of the Chicago Juror James W. Cooper was the first one directory of the exposition, referred briefly to finally accepted and one of the two drawn the extent to which the fair enterprise had from the regular March panel, the other being Robert H. Gray, another colored man. The remaining ten members of the jury were selected from the 75 extra talesmen drawn when the regular panel had been exhausted. During the first two or three weeks of the jury's service he was, despite his large size, one of the most active members of the jury, and also one of the most jovial.

grown and to the fact that more money (about $8,000,000) was absolutely necessary to carry on the work, so as to insure the opening of the gates of the fair. How to get the additional amount required was, therefore, the question confronting the management. Some persons might suggest curtailing certain leatures of the enterprise, but this would not be done. Chicago had raised the amount specified in the act of Congress.

If Congress in its wisdom thought that under all the circumstances it should not make the appropriations asked for by the bill and share with the citizens the proportionate receipts of the fair, he had another proposition to make. It was in effect that Congress pass a bill making an appropriation of $5,000,000, with a provision that would not debar the management from borrowweary confinement which the jury were neces- the would not debar the management from borrowing on bonds the money necessary above that Speaking of Juror Cooper this morning, amount.

But it can now be stated that their absence for so long a time was due to the fact that upon reaching their room Saturday afternoon to deliberate upon their verdict, the entire jury, led by their foreman, indulged in a service of prayer, asking Alimighty God to guide and direct them. They then took the one ballot which declared Howard J. Schneider to be guilty of the murder of his wife. The ballot taken, the jury indulged in a final prayer, in which they beseeched God to forgive the man they had condemned and asked that He might bless all who had participated in the trial and those who had been wronged and sorrowed by the prisoner's terrible crime. That done, they notified the balliffs that they had agreed upon their verdict and made their way to the crowded court room below.

Mr. Harrison on the subject of the appointment is that he is determined to appoint Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller has long been anxious to go on the Supreme bench and every time a vacancy has occurred his name has come up. The suggestion, however, has always excited opposition in the Senate and the President has been threatened with a failure of confirmation if he made the appointment.

He has yielded to this each time, sacrificing his own desires and disappointing Mr. Miller.

He has had more vacancies on the Supreme Court bench to fill than have failen to the lot of other Presidents and the odds are against his having another vacancy during his term.
